About La Compagnie

Launched July 2014, La Compagnie is an exclusively business-class airline offering regularly scheduled transatlantic flights between Paris (Charles de Gaulle) and London (Luton) to New York (Newark International Airport). An entrepreneurial initiative offering very competitive fares, the airline was created in October 2013 by L’Avion Founder Frantz Yvelin with assistance from Former Swissair and JetAirways COO Peter Luethi. The launch follows a fundraising campaign that drew nearly 30 million Euros from French and European investors, one of the largest amounts raised in France during the calendar year.
